Sidwell Friends

Advancing Diversity, Justice and Community in Education

We are excited to invite you to join and support the 2nd Annual LEAD Conference. This unique partnership, between Howard University and Sidwell Friends School, is designed to build a community of collegiate, public, charter, and independent school educators, as well as workforce leaders from around the Washington, DC area. Our goal is to explore and develop programs that address race, equity, and justice in school communities.

Dax-Devlon Ross and Loretta Ross

Daryl Howard and Shannon Waite

The inaugural two-day LEAD Conference was held in August 2022, and drew more than 100 participants from charter, private and public schools from Loudoun County, Montgomery County, Fairfax County, and the District of Columbia. Over two days, distinguished speakers and panelists addressed our core issues head on.
